CYBERBULLYNG

Cyberbullyng is a form of bullyng conducted through the internet.

Bullyng is a violent form of behavior, physical and psychological, towards a person.

The cyberbully usually bullies to gain popularity within a group, for fun, out of malice or simply out of boredom.

For cyberbulling some specific behaviors have been defined that can trigger the phenomenon:

- excessive use of the internet;

- access to the network without adult control;

- participation in online groups;

- excessive use of webcams and social networks.

Adults remain ignorant of these facts for a long time because they have not access to online comunications for guys.

To combat this phenomenon there is a need for: report with peers, relationship parents – children, relationship teachers – pupils,  culture of family and school culture.
